Location

Llangynog is a particularly picturesque rural village set within the upper Tanat Valley in Powys, North Wales, surrounded by the foothills of the Berwyn Mountains and an exceptional landscape of rolling farmland, wooded valleys and open upland. The village sits within the Tanat Valley Registered Historic Landscape, while the surrounding Berwyn landscape is characterised by steep-sided valleys, upland grazing and dramatic mountain scenery.

The area has a fascinating industrial heritage, with the upper Tanat Valley bearing evidence of historic lead, phosphate and slate mining, as well as granite quarrying. Today, these historic influences sit alongside the traditional agricultural character of the area, with Llangynog retaining the feel of a small, close-knit rural community.

For those who enjoy the outdoors, the surrounding countryside offers an extensive network of minor roads, tracks and footpaths, with the long-distance Pererindod Melangell trail passing directly through Llangynog and linking the Tanat and Vyrnwy valleys. The Berwyn Mountains provide a spectacular backdrop for walking, cycling and exploring, with opportunities ranging from gentle valley walks to more challenging upland routes.
