Introduction

This characterful townhouse offers flexible accommodation arranged over three floors, featuring an open-plan lounge, dining area, and kitchen on the ground floor, a spacious reception room or potential bedroom alongside a bathroom on the first floor, and two further bedrooms above. While the property would benefit from some modernisation, it presents an exciting opportunity for new owners to personalise and create a home tailored to their own tastes.

Property Description

Approached along a passageway directly from the historic cobbled street, 45 Lower Broad Street immediately impresses with its character and charm. This handsome three-storey red-brick townhouse is steeped in period features and offers flexible living space across all floors.

A traditional canopied entrance porch opens into a welcoming sitting room, complete with exposed timber beams and a feature fireplace, perfect for cosy evenings. To the rear, the kitchen provides a practical and functional space, fitted with base units, a stainless steel sink, and ample room for appliances. There is also scope to create a dining area adjoining the kitchen, ideal for informal family meals or entertaining.

On the first floor, you'll find a spacious second reception room, equally suited as a comfortable lounge or additional bedroom, alongside a generous family bathroom featuring a white suite with bath, pedestal wash basin, and W.C.

The top floor accommodates two further charming bedrooms, both enjoying elevated views over the rooftops of Ludlow, completing the picture of this characterful and versatile home.

Outside

A separate low-maintenance garden offers a rare and valuable outdoor retreat in the heart of Ludlow. Laid mostly to lawn and surrounded by established trees and hedging, the garden provides an excellent green and tranquil setting.

There is ample scope for landscaping, vegetable growing, or creating a more formal garden design, making it ideal for keen gardeners or families alike. A timber shed offers useful storage, while the open aspect toward neighbouring period properties adds to the sense of charm.

With some light improvement, this outdoor area could become a true highlight of the home, perfect for summer entertaining or quiet enjoyment of nature.

Outbuilding

Sitting discreetly at the edge of the garden, the property benefits from a versatile brick-built outbuilding offering a range of potential uses. Currently used for storage, this well-proportioned space could easily serve as a potting shed, workshop, or creative studio.

Thoughtfully designed with a mezzanine/first-floor level, it provides additional storage or scope for a quiet retreat or hobby area. With power and lighting connected, the building presents a fantastic opportunity for those seeking practical space outside the main house, all while enjoying views across the garden.

Whether you're a gardener, artist, or simply need extra room for tools and equipment, this outbuilding offers exceptional flexibility in a charming setting.

Location

Lower Broad Street is one of Ludlow's most desirable addresses, known for its heritage architecture and close-knit community. The property lies within easy reach of the town centre, train station (direct services to Shrewsbury, Hereford and beyond), and stunning countryside walks along the River Teme and Whitcliffe Common.
