DESCRIPTION

This spacious four/five-bedroom detached home backs directly onto open grazing land, giving it a sense of space and privacy that's increasingly hard to find.

Over the years, the house has been sensibly adapted to suit everyday family life. The former garage has been converted into an additional reception room, which works equally well as a fifth bedroom, home office, playroom or second sitting room. A large utility room has also been added at the back of the house — ideal for keeping laundry, muddy boots and household clutter away from the main living areas.

Inside, there's a practical entrance porch leading into a generous reception hall with cloakroom. The main lounge is a comfortable, well-proportioned space with a fireplace, and double doors open through to the dining room — making it easy to have the rooms connected for gatherings or separate them for quieter evenings. Sliding patio doors lead into the conservatory, which offers extra living space and a spot to enjoy the garden views throughout the year.

LOCATION

Located in the established neighbourhood of Dawley, the property enjoys easy access to both everyday amenities and open green space. Stirchley Showground, Telford Town Park and the Silkin Way are all within walking distance — ideal for dog walks, weekend strolls or cycling.

A range of shops and local services can be found in Dawley District Centre, along with nearby schooling including Phoenix Academy. Excellent road links also provide quick access to Telford Town Centre, with its wider selection of shopping, dining and leisure facilities.
