Location:

Heading South East into Stratford down the Birmingham Road enter Guild St and the public car park to the site is located on your right hand side just before the turning into Union Street.

Description:

An opportunity to lease and run a building ideally suited to setting up a shared workspace for co creation and incubation of SME's and the creative arts sectors. The owners of the building invite expressions of interest from potential tenants who could put the building to best use.

A description of the property is as follows: The unit is accessed either via the pedestrian walkway from the rear of Hobsons Tea Rooms on Stratford's famous Henley Street or via the pay and display car park off Guild Street.

The building is a period red brick and traditional pitched tiled roof set over three stories with two access doors and several window openings to the front elevation. It is believed that the building dates back to the late eighteenth century as a burgage plot to 1 Henley Street, as the building was labelled as a malthouse on the 1885 ordnance survey map. The property was sympathetically refurbished in 2024/25 maintaining some main of the historical features of the building.

The property is accessed via a new glazed doorway at the North end of the building (nearest Guild Street) which leads into the following internal accommodation: There is a reception lobby area with a feature steel staircase located to the left-hand side and a vaulted ceiling giving an impressive first impression. There is ample space for a waiting area and reception desk with the staircase taking you to the basement area which features a brick floor with original timber panelled walls to the right-hand side, high level windows to the left-hand side and industrial lighting and galvanised conduit trunking. There is a main workspace, storage cupboard, disabled access WC with white cross bonded tiled walls and new sanitary wear. Beyond this area is access to a second staircase and then a breakout/kitchen room with white base units, grey worktop with sink and tap. From this staircase is the raised ground floor area which is mostly open plan with a kitchen/break out area to the far Southern end of the room along with a toilet.

The second floor is accessed via a staircase at the Northern end of the building and this floor features impressive, exposed timber trusses and a skylight to the Eastern roof elevation. There is industrial galvanised conduit with 13-amp double sockets and wire track lighting running through the timber trusses.
