No.12 Parker Street is a charming mid-terraced house dating from the late 1800s, extended to the rear & enjoying a quiet courtyard garden. The property is a stone's throw from Parker's Piece & just a 7-minute cycle ride from Cambridge Station.

An entrance lobby has a fanlight & double doors to the entrance hall with stairs down to the basement & first-floor, finished with original wood flooring continuing through to the main reception room. The dining room has built-in storage & an east-facing window. Adjoining the dining area is a kitchen with a matching range of base & eye-level units; integrated appliances include a dishwasher, double oven & 4-ring gas hob with extractor over. Completing the ground floor accommodation is a cloakroom W.C. which has potential to convert to a shower room. The basement has been fully tanked, has power & could serve as a study or storage room.

Upstairs are 3 double bedrooms, the master bedroom with built-in cupboards & splendid views over Parker's Piece. Bedroom 2 has an ensuite shower room & there is a further shower room just off from the landing.

Outside, the house is set behind iron railings with steps to the entrance. The private walled rear garden measures 17.7m x 6m, is predominantly paved & has an apple tree that fruits. The courtyard is bordered with a variety of established shrub & planting.
