DESCRIPTION

Edwardian Grandeur. Serious Space. One Very Exciting Future. Some houses give you rooms. This one gives you possibilities. Occupying an imposing plot on Malden Road, this substantial five-bedroom Edwardian residence offers almost 2,700 sq ft of internal accommodation, excluding the garages, combining wonderful period character with enormous potential to create something truly exceptional. Behind its handsome façade, the house retains a wealth of original features, generous proportions, high ceilings and the kind of room sizes modern homes rarely attempt. The ground floor is wonderfully versatile, with an impressive drawing room, further reception rooms, dedicated study and separate office – plenty of space for family life, entertaining and working from home.

The existing kitchen and breakfast room sit alongside the main living accommodation, but this is where imagination could really take over. Subject to the usual consents, there is exciting potential to extend, remodel and open up the floor plan, creating a spectacular kitchen, dining and family space while preserving the formal rooms that give an Edwardian home its soul.

Upstairs, the scale continues with five genuine bedrooms, including an impressive principal bedroom with en-suite, alongside a family bathroom. Plenty of room for a growing family, guests and the inevitable bedroom that somehow becomes a wardrobe.

Outside, a substantial drive-in, drive-out driveway provides excellent parking, while two garages offer further flexibility for cars, storage or potential future reconfiguration, subject to consent.

This isn't a house crying out to be reinvented beyond recognition. It's an Edwardian mansion ready for its next chapter – modernise it, open it up, extend it, but keep the character and proportions that make homes like this increasingly difficult to find.

Big rooms. Beautiful bones. Almost 2,700 sq ft. And enough potential to make an architect reach for the tracing paper.
