Thinking of Selling?

If you are thinking of selling your home or just curious to discover the value of your property, Hunters would be pleased to provide free, no obligation sales and marketing advice. Even if your home is outside the area covered by our local offices we can arrange a Market Appraisal through our national network of Hunters estate agents.

Set in an elevated spot on the outskirts of the highly regarded village of Horsley, this period three-bedroom semi-detached home enjoys sweeping, uninterrupted views over open farmland to the rear. Now in need of full modernisation, it represents an excellent chance for a buyer to update and tailor a character property in a peaceful rural location. A glazed entrance porch leads directly into the kitchen, which connects to a practical utility area and a ground-floor WC. To the side, a spacious living-dining room runs the full length of the house, creating a bright central living space, doors open onto a conservatory and on into the garden where the far-reaching countryside outlook forms a pleasant backdrop. Stairs rise from the living-dining room to the first-floor landing, where three bedrooms and a shower room are arranged. A further staircase leads up to a loft; subject to the usual consents, this area offers potential for conversion into a fourth bedroom or a dedicated home office, adding valuable extra accommodation. Outside, the rear garden provides scope for landscaping or future extension, and private parking is located at the back of the plot with potential for garaging subject to the usual consents being granted. The property is offered with no onward chain,

SITUATION

Horsley is a lively yet peaceful Cotswold village, set around two miles west of Nailsworth and five miles south of Stroud. It benefits from a well-regarded Church of England primary school, a community-run village shop and café, and the much-loved Hog pub. Nearby Nailsworth offers an impressive selection of independent shops, artisan food producers, and everyday services. For commuters, Stroud's mainline station provides direct services to Paddington in around 90 minutes, while the M5 at Junction 13 gives convenient access to Bath, Bristol, Cheltenham and Gloucester. The surrounding countryside is threaded with footpaths and bridleways, making it an excellent location for walkers.
