Summary

A well-maintained three-bedroom home offering a double garage, off-street parking, front and rear gardens and EV charging point in Knowle

A Note from the Current Owner

As my house approaches its 100th birthday, it offers something increasingly desirable; the major structural improvements needed to position it well for the future have already been completed. The wall ties, rendering and roof have been updated under my ownership, and I hope that gives the next owners added reassurance. It also means they can simply enjoy the home, without having to face the stress, disruption and expense that such significant projects can bring.

The detached double garage and workshop have been an incredibly useful and versatile space, suitable for a range of uses including vehicles, a home business, DIY projects or general storage. I've always found it to be a practical feature of the property, and one that will continue to add value for years to come.
