The Home -

Located on Dunlace Road - one of Lower Clapton's most sought-after streets, this end of terrace Victorian house is arranged across multiple levels, it has high ceilings, timber floorboards, and original fireplaces give a strong sense of its 19th-century heritage, while considered improvements from new triple glazed sash windows to a recently fitted boiler, bring ease to everyday living. The layout is versatile, with rooms that can adapt to changing needs, whether for quiet retreat, lively gathering, or working from home, it offers a great opportunity for a new owner to put their own stamp on the house. The neighbourhood has the feel of a true community, with family friendly streets, welcoming neighbours, and a wealth of independent cafés, restaurants, and food shops nearby thanks to the famous Chatsworth Road which is moments away. The house sits in the catchment area for Rushmore Primary school. Green parks and nature reserves lie within walking distance, and excellent transport links make central London quickly accessible.

The Indoors

The hallway sets the atmosphere and leads into the reception room and kitchen on the right. Large sash windows fill the room with daylight and original wooden floors are underfoot. A few steps down is the utility room, with plenty of space for coats and laundry and a door opening directly onto the garden, further below, the basement offers scope for storage and extension (subject to planning consents) The first floor is currently arranged with the main bedroom serving as a generous living space, its tall windows and fireplace accentuating the proportions. Also on this level is the second bedroom, with storage and space for a double bed, as well as the main bathroom, a restful room with a freestanding bath, with shower, sash window, heated towel rail, and a separate W/C. The top floor holds two further bedrooms, one of which has built in hard wood wardrobes and drawers, the other bedroom is a large double with its own Victorian fireplace, built in wardrobes and large Sash windows welcoming in the natural light.

The Outdoors

At the front of the house, a neat garden sets the home back from the street, adding a touch of greenery and privacy before you step inside. To the rear, a generous garden opens out, offering room for outdoor meals with friends and family. With its size and sense of seclusion, it feels well suited to both lively occasions and simple everyday use. The garden offers great potential to extend, adding square footage and value (subject to the usual planning consents).
