The Indoors

Stepping into the hallway, the home opens up to the left into a generous kitchen and living space. Sash windows frame the room and bring in steady light throughout the day, and there's plenty of room for a dining table. The kitchen is fitted with useful storage, a fridge-freezer and a dishwasher, keeping everything practical and easy to use.

Next to this space sits the main bathroom, fitted with a walk-in shower, clean-lined fittings and a heated rail.

The first bedroom, currently arranged as a study, has enough room for a bed and additional storage, making it flexible for work or rest.

Opposite is the main bedroom, comfortably sized for a double bed and fitted wardrobes, with large windows that brighten the entire room.

Loving The Location

Cadogan Terrace is perfectly located between the pubs, shops, restaurants and Sunday markets of Victoria Park Village, Hackney Wick and Chatsworth Road. Victoria Park Village is home to a wonderful array of organic cafes, shops and delis including Ginger Pig butchers, The Deli Downstairs, Jonathan Norris fishmongers, Bottle Apostle wine merchants and Gail's bakery. In addition, there are numerous excellent pubs and bars including the Lauriston, the Empress and the Royal Inn on the Park, and Bar Bruno.

Hackney Wick has seen a significant influx of cultural investment since the 2012 Olympics. There are numerous restaurants and bars including the award-winning Cornerstone, Silo and Crate Brewery. The Here East campus is a short walk away and operates as a co-working hub and cultural centre, while award-winning theatre and music venue The Yard is also close by.

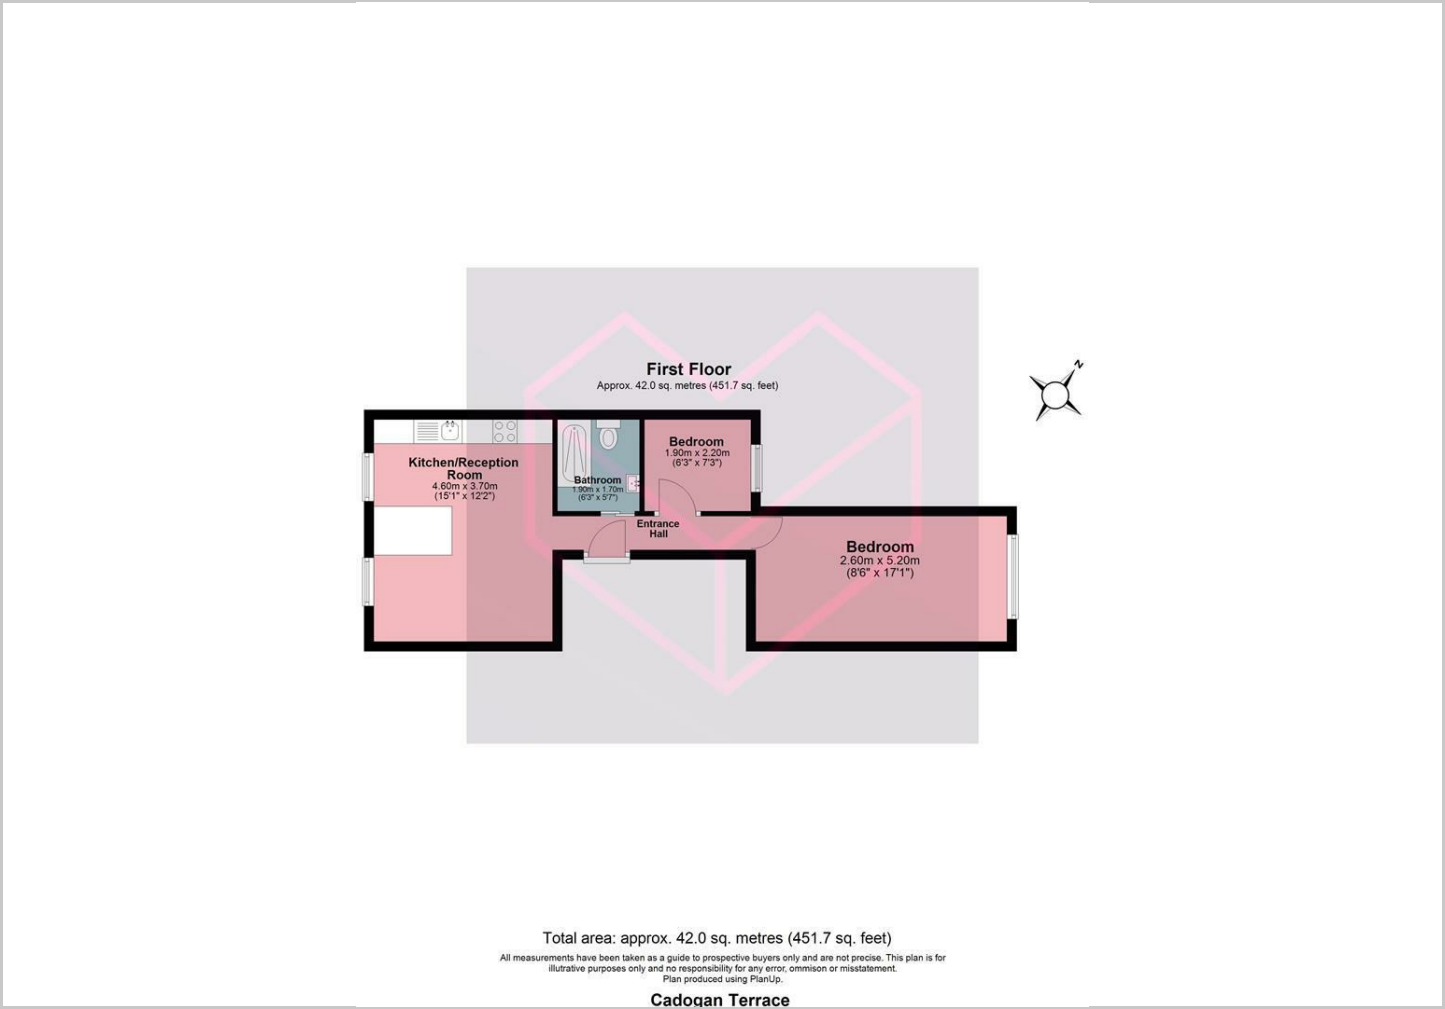

The green spaces of the Olympic Park, Victoria Park and London Fields are all within easy walking distance.

Homerton and Hackney Wick stations are equidistant, running London Overground services to Highbury & Islington (Victoria Line) in one direction, and Stratford International (Jubilee Line) in the other.
