This charming family home nestles in grounds of approximately 0.37 acres and is surrounded by beautiful Dorset countryside.

The property offers well proportioned accommodation which has been sympathetically styled by the current owners.

On the ground floor, the dual aspect sitting room has an inglenook fireplace with fitted woodburner and feature ceiling beams, along with flagstone and quarry tiled floor. The adjoining dining room also has a quarry tiled floor.

The hub of this cottage is undoubtedly the stylishly appointed kitchen/breakfast room – with vaulted beamed ceiling, flagstone floor and striking midnight blue units, butcher block worktops and a central island with breakfast bar, this room offers delightful views of the garden and access via French doors.

Of the main entrance hallway there is a separate utility room and a cloakroom.

On the first floor there are two bedrooms - each enjoying delightful garden views. These are served by a shower room with large walk-in shower.

The master bedroom is on the second floor – a very generous room with dressing area and an adjoining ensuite bathroom.

Outside, with gated access the shingled driveway leads to parking and turning space and alongside the cottage there is a recently converted one bedroom annexe offering sitting room/kitchen, bedroom, bathroom and it's own private garden – an ideal guest suite or multi-generation living opportunity.

The gardens beautifully complement the cottage with established borders, flower beds and lawns interspersed with trellis. There is adjoining farmland to the side and rear offering delightful open views. A former stable now provides useful garden shed/storage.
