Description

The sale of 65 Oakerthorpe Road offers an exciting opportunity to acquire a stone-built, semi-detached cottage with many traditional and characterful features. The accommodation spreads across two floors and briefly comprises on the ground floor a sitting room, rear porch area, and a kitchen. The first floor offers a double bedroom and separate bathroom. The accommodation requires modernisation throughout however, new windows, doors and flooring have recently been installed, allowing a purchaser to finish to their own taste. Previously, planning permission has been obtained to extend the property and although this has now lapsed, the opportunity is there should someone wish (subject to new planning consents).

Externally, the property offers a generously sized plot with lawned garden areas, perfect for those with amenity and gardening interests, and ample space to create a patio. The driveway is spacious, with plentiful parking for multiple vehicles offering good access to the parcel of land to the rear. A stone-built former piggery offers a useful space, in need of some repairs, but with flexibility in its uses as a garden store, workshop etc.

Land

The grassland locates to the side and rear of the cottage, suitable for grazing of livestock and/or horses, benefitting from access off both the roadside and driveway. The land slopes down to the road, presenting impressive and far-reaching rural views across the Derbyshire countryside, bounded by dry stone walling and mature hedgerows.
