ACCOMMODATION

Marsh Lock House is a striking four-storey riverside detached house, dating from the 18th century, with the entire house recently refurbished to a high standard. It is notable to regular river-goers, in a prominent riverside position and featuring a white rendered exterior with glass balcony and views up and down river. Despite being located along the Wargrave Road, the house is set back from the road and the majority of the house is below road level, so it is surprisingly quiet.

This impressive property is entered up brick steps and through a large door into a spacious hall with marble tiled floors. On this ground floor, a carpeted double bedroom with generous built-in wardrobes has large windows to the front and high ceilings. There is a tiled bathroom with a walk-in shower, wash-hand basin and w.c.. On this level there is also a further large carpeted double bedroom which could make an attractive reception room or gym/home office, with wood panelling and double windows overlooking the river.

The first floor, there is an attractive central living room with multiple windows on many aspects and a large part-glazed wooden exterior door, leading out to the rear terraced garden, which has a pedestrian gate to the Wargrave Road. There is also a cloakroom with a wash-hand basin and w.c, a useful study with a windows to the front elevation. Also from this central living room, there is an internal window to the front living room which hints to the generous open-plan living and spectacular river views. The front living room features a wood-burning stove and French doors leading out to the balcony which hosts spectacular views over the river and Marsh Lock. This room also has an opening into the spacious open plan breakfast kitchen, the dining area has further French doors to the balcony, which is large enough for a table and chairs. With windows on dual aspects the kitchen benefits from excellent natural light throughout the day. The newly fitted kitchen features contemporary dark blue wall and base units and a central island with quartz worktop, generous counter space and further storage, with the sink cleverly sitting beneath a window. Integrated appliances include a fridge-freezer, a dishwasher, a double oven, and an induction hob with an overhead extractor hood. a separate utility room with space for full laundry facilities which also houses the boiler and hot water tank.

The second floor landing benefits from the natural light of multiple windows in the stairwell. The principal bedroom is a large double with far-reaching views across the river and Marsh Lock, through two large windows. It is complemented by a substantial en suite bathroom with a walk-in shower, wash hand basin, heated towel rail and w.c. Also on the second floor, there are two further double bedrooms with built-in wardrobes, wood veneer floors and vaulted ceilings. Both bedrooms are served by a generous family bathroom with attractive mosaic tiles, a large bath, wash-hand basin, w.c. and a walk-in shower.

Gardens and grounds

Marsh Lock House is approached along a private drive shared with a small number of grand riverside houses. There is parking for 4 cars on a paved terrace, and a single garage is built into the lower ground floor of the house.

A raised seating area benefits from the river views. Down flagstone steps into the river garden, enclosed with fencing and mainly laid to grass with mature shrubs and a paved riverside terrace, perfect for outdoor entertaining. There is a further secluded dining area with views across the garden to the river. This private garden provides access to a private mooring on the Thames. A wooden garden shed provides useful storage.

The garden looks directly towards Marsh Lock and the riverside walkway, making it ideal for people-watching and observing the slow pace of boating through the Lock. This stretch of the river is busy with aquatic birdlife and is very peaceful with the weir providing a soothing soundtrack of moving water.

The rear of the property is set as a terraced garden with steps leading up to a wooden fence with laurel bushes planted, and a pedestrian gate accessing the Wargrave Road. This would make an ideal area for a kitchen garden or specialised container garden. Beyond the Wargrave Road is a steep wooded hillside providing a green backdrop for the house.
