With the whole plot measuring just less than one acre, the rear of the property is a remarkable landscaped space that has been well-nurtured by the current owners, and has shingle paths leading to the different areas of the garden. Immediately behind the house is a generous parterre, with mature planting of herbs and perennials, and the rear of the house is festooned with a large wisteria. Beyond the parterre, mature trees and shrubs feature in a lawned space that leads to the swimming pool terrace and Pool House. The chlorinated pool is heated via an air-source heat pump, the workings for which are within the pump room in the Pool House. Beyond the swimming pool terrace, mature fruit trees fringe an open lawned space which was previously planted to grapevines. This large flat space could fit a full tennis court, and features a large storage shed to one end, log storage, and the heating oil tank on its periphery. The whole rear garden is enclosed by mature hedging and trees, and backs onto Chiltern farmland and hillsides.
