A detached individual property which has been significantly extended and remodelled over the years to form deceptively spacious family accommodation. Set in this accessible rural area in the village of Kinnersley, the property is strategically well placed for Hereford, Hay on Wye, Kington and Leominster.

The property comes to market for the first time in 30 years and has over the years had a mixed commercial use but in more recent times purely a residential property. Accommodation is oil fired central heated and double glazed and well presented throughout having good sized rooms which provide a flexible layout with even potential to form an integrated annex. From the enclosed porch, there is a small room with plumbing for appliances, a further door leads to a wide reception hall to a principle dining/sitting room area being open plan and good size with fireplace. Doors lead to a conservatory with a pleasing outlook into the garden. The kitchen has a range of painted wood timber units and door through to a further reception room, which could be an additional dining area or study. To the other end of the house, the inner hallway leads to a study area and utility. Stairs rise to the First Floor to a wide landing area and doors off to four double bedrooms, some with fitted wardrobes and most having views out over the fields and road leading through the village. There is an en-suite bathroom as well as family bathroom.

To the outside there is a parking area for a number of cars, formal gardens which are pleasantly private and a cultivated section with raised planters and greenhouse and area providing further parking. To fully appreciate the many attributes of this home, an internal inspection is recommended.

The property is approached off the main road to a parking area for a number of cars with a path leading to the front door.
