Outside

The main entrance to the terraced property is located at the front. At the side substantial timber double doors open into a covered carport and storage area, which also leads to a paved courtyard and the smokehouse. The courtyard is fully enclosed by brick walls, offering privacy and security. A fixed ladder within the carport provides access to additional overhead storage space.

Former Smoke House

As a Grade II listed property, this former smokehouse represents a rare and characterful addition to the main terrace. Offering considerable historic interest, it provides a unique opportunity for a variety of uses, subject to the necessary listed building and planning consents. Rich in period charm, the building retains its original features, including traditional brickwork, a tiled roof, stable-style doors, and historic date detailing that enhances its architectural appeal. Positioned within the enclosed courtyard to the rear, the structure offers excellent potential for storage, workshop space, or creative studio use, with any alterations or change of use subject to the appropriate permissions. Its distinct footprint and striking appearance make it a particularly uncommon and attractive feature. An exceptional opportunity for buyers seeking a property of genuine character and heritage significance, with scope for sensitive enhancement as part of the overall offering.
