Location

This home is situated in the Heart of an English Coastal Town nestled in the most easterly point of the British Isles. With award-winning sandy beaches and breath-taking Victorian seafront gardens. Explore the Royal Plain Fountains, two piers, and a variety of independent eateries that will tantalise your taste buds. Education is a top priority here, with excellent schools for all ages. Commuting is a breeze with a bus station and train station that offer regular services to Norwich and surrounding areas. Located just 110 miles north-east of London, 38 miles north-east of Ipswich, and 22 miles south-east of Norwich.

Summary

A rare chain-free opportunity to acquire a charming three-bedroom terrace in the heart of Lowestoft, complete with a remarkable Grade II listed smokehouse dating back to circa 1760. Rich in character and heritage, this historic home offers a spacious lounge and dining area, ground floor cloakroom and bathroom, fitted kitchen, and three well-proportioned bedrooms. To the rear, a fully enclosed brick-walled courtyard leads to the substantial former smokehouse - a striking and uncommon addition brimming with original brickwork, tiled roof, stable-style doors and historic detailing. Offering exceptional potential for storage, workshop or creative use (subject to the necessary consents), this unique property presents an outstanding opportunity to own a genuine piece of Lowestoft's heritage, conveniently positioned close to local amenities.

Outside

The main entrance to the terraced property is located at the front. At the side substantial timber double doors open into a covered carport and storage area, which also leads to a paved courtyard and the smokehouse. The courtyard is fully enclosed by brick walls, offering privacy and security. A fixed ladder within the carport provides access to additional overhead storage space.

Former Smoke House

As a Grade II listed property, this former smokehouse represents a rare and characterful addition to the main terrace. Offering considerable historic interest, it provides a unique opportunity for a variety of uses, subject to the necessary listed building and planning consents. Rich in period charm, the building retains its original features, including traditional brickwork, a tiled roof, stable-style doors, and historic date detailing that enhances its architectural appeal. Positioned within the enclosed courtyard to the rear, the structure offers excellent potential for storage, workshop space, or creative studio use, with any alterations or change of use subject to the appropriate permissions. Its distinct footprint and striking appearance make it a particularly uncommon and attractive feature. An exceptional opportunity for buyers seeking a property of genuine character and heritage significance, with scope for sensitive enhancement as part of the overall offering.
