The property sits in an elevated location delivering magnificent sea views and a short stroll to the beach and is perfect for either residential or as a weekend retreat. Tucked away off the lane the property has plenty of space around it with a superb attached double garage with impressive sea views.

Traditionally built with a clay tile roof it was constructed to a high standard by local builders of excellent repute. There are 4 good sized bedrooms, three of which have sea views and two have southerly country views towards The Downs. The principal bedroom has en-suite facilities and plenty of space for storage. There is a large open loft space with pull down ladder, which (subject to obtaining any necessary consents) could be converted to provide more accommodation with elevated sea views.

Off the kitchen is a well-equipped and large utility room. You can spend time on the patio enjoying the view of the sea or perhaps watching the 'Round the Island' race from the comfort of your own home.

The high standard of workmanship includes a feature oak staircase and bi fold doors to catch the last of the evening sunshine as the sun sets across Colwell Bay. With a private garden to the rear and front of the property it catches the sunshine all day. At the top of the staircase is a very spacious landing which is perfect for a south facing office space, should it be required for home working.

Attached to the house is an excellent double garage with electric doors, which would also be perfect if a new owner wanted more internal living accommodation. The garaging has a rear window and door into the garden - there are superb sea views from the garage. The property benefits from a pressurised heating system.
