Former Fenton Library Baker Street

Fenton, Stoke-On-Trent, ST4 3AF

Description

The property comprises a former library and historic building within Fenton, which is arranged on ground and first floor. The building is detached and occupies nearly all the site area.

The property was formerly used as Fenton Library and has double door entrance onto Baker Street leading into a lobby area with further doors leading into a central hallway with attractive tiled floor, painted walls and ceiling. There are stairs from the hallway leading to the first floor and cellar.

From the hallway there are various rooms which are interconnected around the central hallway.

On the ground floor there are five main rooms as well as a store, ground floor toilet and secondary stairs to the first floor. The rooms are interconnected and have mainly carpet tiled floors with some having part tiled part painted walls and plaster painted ceilings.

On the first floor, a landing area with tiled floor, part tiled walls with remainder painted, leads to three rooms, kitchen and toilet. The floors are of wooden block with painted walls and ceilings although a number of rooms have suspended ceilings.

The building has full gas fired central heating supplied from a boiler in the basement.

Location

The property is situated on Baker Street within the centre of Fenton. Fenton is one of the six towns which make up the Stoke-on-Trent conurbation and is located to the south of the conurbation.

The property is within a mixed use area with commercial offices and commercial buildings as well as a number of residential properties.
