Studley is one of the largest villages in Warwickshire with a population of around 6,500. It lies to the far west of the county just beyond the outskirts of Redditch.

The growth of Studley to its present size was based on the development of the needle industry which flourished in the area from the 17th Century. During the 19th Century steam powered mills were built to produce needles, fishing hooks and fishing tackle which contributed much to the prosperity of the village during the 19th and 20th centuries. The best known local landmark is Studley Castle, a 19th century manor house, designed in the Gothic Revival style and now a successful hotel.

Situated within easy reach of Stratford-Upon-Avon, Redditch and Birmingham, Studley also benefits from its proximity to the Warwickshire and Worcestershire countryside as well as many local amenities. These include 2 supermarkets, Post Office, bakeries and butchers. It also benefits from highly rated primary and secondary schools, churches of different denominations, a well-equipped village hall, doctors, vets and dentists. All of these factors alongside a diverse range of residential properties continue to make Studley a desirable area to live.
