Description

Warrenhurst is an Arts & Crafts house set within gardens of over an acre and enjoys a rich history. This striking and rare home, with stone mullion windows to much of the ground floor, and ornate moulded ceilings, was utilised during WWII, as evident in the games room, where an impressive commemorative war themed wall mural has been thoughtfully preserved. In addition, the beautiful landscaped gardens were designed by Gertrude Jekyll. We are delighted to become a minor part of this home's history by way of offering buyers the rare opportunity to become the new custodians of this much-loved home as it is sold for the first time in 25 years.

The imposing stone storm porch provides much shelter upon entering this home, opening to a spacious entrance hall with both a cloaks room and guest toilet. From here, doors lead into the kitchen and the period piano room, with a striking staircase to the first floor and doors out to the garden via a decorative stone loggia. The living room boasts a feature fireplace, and enjoys a dual aspect view looking towards the landscaped gardens to the rear and, via an alluring window seat, the 'long' garden to the side aspect. At the far end of the house is the games room, featuring the WW2 mural, this also enjoys a dual aspect over the gardens, and is complemented by an oak panelled fireplace. A sizable formal dining room with it's own distinctive fireplace also overlooks the garden. The kitchen is located to the front and enjoys a wall of neat larder cupboards and a walk-in pantry. There is a selection of complementary wall and base units, a range cooker, a number of built-in appliances as well as space for a family breakfast table. A separate plant/utility room complements this. To the far side of the house are three further reception rooms, at one time used as a separate home, with its own rear staircase and utility area which had formerly been used as a kitchen/breakfast room. From here there is direct garden access with further views of the remarkable garden.

The rear staircase leads to two first-floor bedrooms, one with en-suite, and further stairs to two second-floor bedrooms, each with a fireplace. From the imposing principal galleried landing are five bedrooms each with original fireplaces, four of which are large double rooms overlooking the impressive gardens, two with en-suite facilities and one with a spacious dressing area within. A spacious family bathroom serves the remaining bedrooms.

Outside are twin older style double garages and gated driveway with ample parking. The impressive Gertrude Jekyll garden is a particular feature of this family home, with formal lawns, rose gardens, hedging, concealed pathways and more. The property has been maintained sympathetically by the current owners in keeping with its original age and design.
